has been organized here to use up the surplus supply of horses which now exists in the Northwest, and at the same time make it profitable for raising good American horses. It is proposed to slaughter the horses in abbatoirs near this city. The flesh will be rendered of its oil and the residue, with the bones and hoofs, will be made into a fertilizer. The hide-, which have always a market value, will be saited and the hair will be used in upholstery work. A portion of the meat will be used as chicken food.

It is estimated that in Oregon Washington, Montans, Nevada and Idaho there are at present 1,000,000 of half-breed wild horses, for which no market can now be found.
